Angles Magazine

Angles is an online school-wide magazine which showcases the creativity of Central's students. Original writings are welcome, such as poems, short stories, essays and projects (from any subject). Visual and performing arts of all sorts are welcomed and encouraged as well. The greater the variety of the creativity, the more fascinating the magazine becomes. Students can be involved by submitting. They also elect to be part of our editorial team, which designs and proofs the entire magazine.

To join Angles, please use the classroom code: fruzuqc.

We will be meeting on Wednesdays initially, though more days may be added as the year advances. Meeting times are 2:45 p.m.
